About the wood...

Set on the edge of the Yorkshire Dales National Park close to the village of Ingleton, Greenwood Leghe covers an area of almost 4 acres, with views of Ingleborough to the north.

A total of 2220 native broadleaf trees were planted during the winter of 2012/13, including large proportions of Rowan, Birch, Bird Cherry, Hazel, Alder and Holly.

The wood links with other existing small areas of woodland and over time will provide a home for a variety of wildlife, bringing biodiversity and habitat improvements for the area.

How to get there...

When leaving Ingleton on the A65 towards Settle take the left hand turning sign posted Greenwood Leghe Holiday Home Park and follow the driveway to reach the small parking area where YDMT staff will be on hand to welcome you for the Open Days.

The woodland is reached via a 10-15 minute walk which includes some gentle inclines.

Please Note: The woodland is situated on private land and is not open to the public (except on official YDMT woodland open days). There is perimeter access around the site via public rights of way which provide a good view of the woodland.

The Yorkshire Dales Millennium Trust is a small charity doing big things to support every aspect of life in the Yorkshire Dales. By supporting our work you have helped to restore part of the wonderful jigsaw of features which makes the Yorkshire Dales landscape so special.

Thank you.

Additional parking can be found in Ingleton town centre approx. 1 mile away. A footpath along the roadside provides access to the woodland.
